Mr. Roughgarden who was in charge of the construction of the new church in Upi, of Brent Hospital in Zamboanga, and has just recently completed building the new Holy Trinity Church in Manila, is leaving for America with his family of the S.S. President Wilson on July 29th. He has generously been sending us magazines, such as Life, Women's Magazine, Atlantic Monthly, Power, and Mechanical Engineering.

St. Martha's Guild is an organization that helps the church in anyway possible. The women meet at the Convent once a month to mend and sew. They take turns washing the cottas and cassocks. They have made purifications and lavabo towels, and amices. They earned money for the Statue of our Lady holding the Christ Child in the Church, and they helped for the new Stations of the Cross. These women have done many things for the Church in the postwar years. The Guild is a select group of about twenty women with no offers, but we work happily and generously. Our latest activity was the Ribbon dance last Saturday night when an orderly, happily and profitable time was had by many. More than thirty pesos were raised for the Church. Our next project is to sell coffee, tea, and cookies at the time of the entertainment to be held early in September. The High School Dormitory Girls will give a very arousing play "Old King Cole's Court". The Intermediate Dormitory Girls will show "The Perfect Gift", and the Holy Child Orphanage will amuse you with a shadow play which shows what happens when children eat too much. "Plan to come and help us help the Church". (Sister Lioba, C.S.M.)

Last Saturday Mr. Norton gave overtime to the schoolboys working within the Mission Compound. Mr. Norton with the boys made a good outdoor cooking stove, just above the Mission Shop. The outdoor cooking stove is made of iron and stones. (G. Gawili)

Two new teachers Mrs. Lucencia V. Sinon and Miss Natividad V. Vergara, were recently assigned to take over places of Mrs. Israel Cereso and Mrs. Flora B. Abeya, respectively, who are both on maternity leave.

Dr. Ignatius D. Tauhenek, who planned the pilot project on citizenship education for school in the United States, will give a radio broadcast at Station DZFM Saturday, 7:00 P.M. the topic will be "Community Citizenship That Counts". Everyone is invited to listen to the broadcast in the local library, especially teachers and students.

The grades five and six social studies classes of Sagada Central School were recipients of package filled with books and magazines from Miss Constance Conklin, the distribution officer of the USIS in Manila. Miss Conklin promised to send more in the future and to show their gratitude the pupils wrote her letters of thanks.

Eight students of Baguio Colleges were granted scholarships recently, during a meeting of Executive Council of Baguio Colleges. Their scholarships were approved after studying of their grades and their participation in extra-curricular activities. Hilda Dongail formerly from Sagada and who had been an active teacher in St. Gregory's School in Bagnen is one of the eight.
